- New interesting apps to make the lessons more interactive and appealing for our students
(Simona)

HAVE

- How to plan a CLIC lessons with teaching objectives based on content, communication, cognition, and culture
(Irina)

- Visible learning and teaching
- Things that matter about feedback
- The benefits of mindfulness
(Victoria)

- Better understanding and tools for tackling the challenges of teaching and learning (e.g. visible learning, Bloom's taxonomy, grouping, tiered lessons)
(Heidi)

WE # LEARNED?

OUR FAVOURITE PLACES AND MOMENTS

DISSEMINATION

- posts on my own + our school's social media
- presentation to colleagues at the beginning of the school year
- sharing course material
- article in the local newspaper
- trying out the newly learned methods in my classroom
- Erasmus Days -event in October 2022
(Heidi)

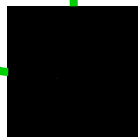

Using the following methods in my lessons:

- Think-Pair-Share
- Running Dictation
- Jigsaw
- Placemat

Practising mindfulness:

- 5-4-3-2-1 Senses
(Victoria)

I teach English in the secondary school, so I could use Bookcreator for projects with students and could also convey a survey with teachers "Where are you with differentiation?"
(Irina)

- meetings with colleagues (sharing materials, setting new goals to improve the learning teaching skills in my school)
- Using in my lessons the activities and strategies learned these days (tiering levels, using new apps, involving the multiple intelligences)
(Simona)

Thanks for your attention!

This trip has been a good craic!
